

Good Meals

at Camp Comfort

The boys at Camp Comfort are using the same stove that they had last year. It was the best they could get. It was a

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

This year they got a New Perfection Oven Also a New Perfection Toaster Also a New Perfection Broiler

"Gen, what a difference in the meals a good stove makes," said one of the boys. And they will tell their mothers and wives about the stove, too. For the New Perfection Oil Cook-stove is as convenient for the home as for the camp. It will bake, broil, roast and toast as well as a regular coal range.

WAILUKU, Maui, August 13.—Mrs. W. F. McConkey and family have taken a small cottage at Kaupakalua for the summer. In the neighborhood, Miss Charlotte L. Turner of Wailuku, Miss Clara Mosser and M. H. Mosser of Paia have also been rusticated. Miss Turner returns this week to Wailuku to resume her work in the Chinese and Japanese Churches.

The families of Arthur M. Brown, Deputy County attorney of Oahu, and John Walker of Honolulu, are at the old Cornwell ranch house at Kaonolu, Kula. This district is not so well known to people outside of Maui as is the eastern portion of Kula, but it is even grander many think, for the view of West Maui takes in the Olo-walu side, Kahoolawe and Molokini can also be seen from this point. The winds come directly over Haleakala, so the air is always delightfully cool in summer and is really cold in winter.

Mrs. A. Ebsen, sister of V. A. Velleisen, has been spending the last three weeks on Maui, visiting her brother's family. On Thursday last week Mrs. Velleisen gave a delightful afternoon-at-home in honor of her sister. A large number of ladies attended. Mrs. Ebsen called on the Mikahala the Saturday following. She will visit her brother in Honolulu, L. M. Velleisen.

Dr. John Weddick's office has been leased to the Island Electric Company, who will take possession in a short time. This office is in a most convenient position for the business of the company, which is surely to be congratulated upon having secured such commodious quarters for the carrying on of their office work. It is understood that soon the concern expects to carry a complete line of all electric fixtures for the accommodation of their customers.

George Tripp's new house at Makawao, located a short distance above Maluhia, has been finished, and the family moved in a few days ago. The location is excellent, and the many friends of the Tripp family are pleased to see them so pleasantly located.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Rice leave Maui on the eleventh of next month for a four months' trip. They will go first to the States and then to Europe. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Rice have been across the Atlantic, so the trip will be novel to them. The greatly anticipated journey and the sight-seeing. Their host of friends wish for them a most delightful vacation.

Several parties have been making the trip to Haleakala this summer. The weather has been most favorable for mountain climbing. All who have been up say that the sunsets have been wonderful. Many report that the early morning cloud effects are not as good as in some other years.

This is undoubtedly due to the fact that during the last six weeks the air has been so lacking in moisture that the clouds have not been so heavy on Haleakala, nor has there been so much wind as is usual in August to drive the clouds through the crater and around over Central Maui plain. The last two or three days have brought plentiful showers over the Makawao region. On Sunday night a heavy rain fell for a short time in Wailuku. The plantation ditches are running full over all the Central Maui plantations. Had the drought continued much longer the cane would have been considerably affected.

The region that has suffered the most is the Haleakala Ranch district. For over one hundred and thirty days there has been no rain, according to reports recently received. The longest period with no rain previously was sixty-seven days. The present record is phenomenal, and were it not for the ever-watchful efforts of Manager L. von Tempsky in turning the water in the different sections of the ranch most carefully, the cattle would have died by the hundreds. As it is, he has lost comparatively few, and those near the highways look in fair condition considering the terrible drought in the region. Last winter the Hawaiians prophesied this drought, for little snow fell on Haleakala. A year of little snow in winter always means, they say, a dry summer. On one day only last winter a little snow could be seen on the summit of the mountain. That was quickly dissipated. Two years before the mountain had an unusually large snowfall, and the succeeding summer was one of the wettest in many years.

PROGRESSIVES IN LEAGUE NOT FOR TEDDY

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 1.—

The National Progressive Republican League has finally decided to refrain from supporting Col. Roosevelt in his Presidential candidacy. Its work will be confined to advocating popular government legislation and the cause of no party or candidate will be seriously espoused.

In a statement announcing the purpose of the League Senator Bourne, its president, said:

"The National Progressive Republican League was organized in January, 1911, for the promotion of five principles of popular government, namely: Popular election of United States Senators, direct primaries, presidential primaries, initiative, referendum and recall and a thoroughgoing corrupt practices act.

"Since that time this organization has kept up a continuous campaign of education in the several states for the enactment of laws in accordance with these principles. We have been gratified to see submitted to the several states a constitutional amendment for the direct election of senators. In numerous states in the last few months laws have been enacted for a direct vote in party primaries for candidates for President and Vice President. The initiative and referendum amendment has been adopted or submitted in more than a dozen states since the organization of this league.

"It is our purpose to continue the campaign for popular government, and we urge that in the campaign which will end in November advocates of popular government question legislative candidates as to their attitude upon the five principles for which we stand, and notify all candidates that they will not receive support unless they pledge themselves in writing that, if elected, they will support these measures.

"The National Progressive Republican League will be glad to supply literature in support of these principles to any popular government advocate who is willing to attend to its distribution."

Politicians at the Capitol are restless under the delay of the Taft campaign in getting under way. They observe with some trepidation the fact that every day the newspapers print long accounts of the growth of the Wilson boom, also fulminations from Oyster Bay, but nothing is heard of the Taft campaign, although it had at least ten days' start of the Wilson campaign.

Men who come back from New York, however, say there is no need to be fretted; that the Taft work is getting in shape on a solid foundation, if somewhat slowly; and that what it does get steam up "there will be some going."

The psychological effect of the joyous claims from the Wilson camp is not lost on the politicians who appreciate the importance of making loud claims of victory and painting bright pictures of success to encourage the faltering and the uncertain.

The republican congressional committee met and decided to co-operate with the republican national committee at both the New York and Chicago headquarters. Chairman McKinley, former manager of the Taft candidacy presided. Representatives Hill (Conn.), Needham (Cal.), Weeks (Mass.), Uter (Conn.), Helgeson (N. Dak.) and others spoke. No reference was made to the third party movement and Secretary J. Hampton Moore said there were no apparent withdrawals from the committee.

"Several members of the bull moose tendency seemed to be present," said Mr. Moore.

The mayors of Spokane and Seattle have issued orders that the Apache dance will not be permitted in society or on the stage.
